

A WORLD OF OPPORTUNITIES FOR YOUNG MEN

No. 18 24 October 2018

From the Principal

This week is a busy week in the life of the College. On Monday night we held the Graduation Ceremony for our Year 12 students, at which we also presented the Academic Awards for each subject and the traditional College Leadership Awards, the winners of which are listed to the right. Our music teachers and staff provided some very professional musical interludes. The Vice-President of the Old Paradians' Association, Mr Paul Shannon, also formally admitted the graduands to membership of the Association.

On Tuesday night, we turned on the lights for the first time on the Bunjil Park Sports fields. We hosted Melbourne City's Youth Team and Warren Joyce, the A-League Manager, ran a training session for 90 minutes. Michael Petrillo, Director of Football, joined me in jointly announcing an exciting development as we formalise a partnership as Parade College joins the Melbourne City College of Football Program.

On Wednesday we held the fourth term full College Assembly at which we traditionally invest the new senior school leaders. The out-going College Captain, Matthew Casamento, symbolically handed over the College flag to the new Vice-Captain, William Conlon, and presented on behalf of the students a very substantial cheque to the Edmund Rice Foundation after the 2018 fundraising activities of the students for the Nzara Hospital in South Sudan.

On Thursday we will dedicate and bless the commemorative sculptures of the Pioneering Brothers and bless the extension to the Holy Spirit Chapel. Bishop Terry Curtin (Auxiliary Bishop of Melbourne); Dr Wayne Tinsey (Executive Director of EREA) and Br Peter Clinch (Province Leader of the Christian Brothers) will officiate. A wonderful ritual is planned, with great participation of our current students and staff. I welcome the Parade Community to come and have a look at the sculptures and to see the new Chapel when you are next visiting.

On Thursday evening, we will welcome all our new 2019 students and their families for the Year 7 Family Orientation Evening. We are grateful to the many current Year 7 students who have volunteered to come along to interact with the new students in their Tutor Groups.

Thanks to the Parents of Parade Committee and the generous Year 7 and Year 11 parent volunteers who volunteered to help provide suppers for both the Year 12 Graduation Night and the Year 7 Family Orientation Evening.

Unit 3-4 VCAA Examinations

Our Year 12s have finished formal classes with the majority of our students commencing the examination period on Wednesday 31 October when the English exam is held.

All Unit 3/4 students have been issued with the VCAA examination manual – “VCE Exams Navigator 2018”, which has all the rules and regulations regarding the upcoming exams (this resource is also available online).

Students are reminded to allow plenty of time to arrive at school prior to their exams with the College recommending that students aim to arrive at least 30 minutes prior to starting time to allow for any mishaps that can occur with transport.

It is worth noting that PTV have advised us that there may be delays on Plenty Road due to roadworks during the examination period so we ask all students to allow for that in their travelling time.

We wish all students the very best throughout the examination period and trust that you continue to prepare yourself to perform at your very best on the day.

World Scholar's Cup

Parade College once again entered teams into the World Scholar's Cup (WSC) program. WSC is a competition made up of teams of three students participating in a series of both individual and team events over a series of days. At the Regional Round, held at Genazzano College in May, Parade College sent six teams with both campuses and all year levels being represented. Our students spent Friday afternoon and evening working on Team Debates, Collaborative Writing and Scholar's Challenge.

All the events are based upon a set theme with "An Entangled World" for 2018. There are also areas of study such as Science, Art and Music and Literature which encourages every student to delve deeper into the themes and research, study and practice. Many of our teams had been meeting on a regular basis to share information and divide up the tasks so that they had a solid understanding of not only the themes but the areas of study. All our teams were successful and gathered numerous awards and medals at the Regional Round.

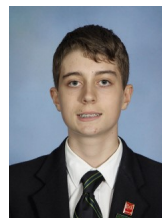

16 to 21 August saw Melbourne host the next round of competition - the Global Round. Two teams were selected to represent Parade College over a five day marathon of social and academic events. The teams again participated in a host of academic challenges that tested their knowledge and ability to work as a team against hundreds of teams from across the world. For our students, it was a fabulous way of connecting with like minded peers from countries as far away as South Africa and as close as Singapore.

Once again, our teams were outstanding representatives of themselves, Parade College, and their families, with both teams gaining qualification to the Tournament of Champions at Yale University in November. Special mention must be made of the Senior Team - Suren Corea Year 10 H8, Max Tricarico Year 11 L5, and Dylan Tran-Ngo Year 10 L2, who won the Senior Debating against hundreds of teams that spent more time practising and researching. Suren Corea and Dylan Tran-Ngo are advancing onto Yale without Max Tricarico, who will sit Year 12 exams during November. The Junior Team – Tim Luhrs Year 8 L20, Damian Di Iorio Year 8 H20 and James Dang Year 8 T20 - also gained many honours. Both teams are now planning for the long trip to Yale and I wish them every success for the Tournament.

Coordinator Gifted and Talented Programs

My WSC Reflection

On 25 and 26 May, eighteen Parade students attended the Melbourne Round of the World Scholar's Cup. It was a two day experience that was both exciting and challenging. The theme this year was 'An Entangled World'.

Prior to this event, we learned about certain topics that explored a universal language where all cultures come together. We were challenged by debating, writing and a multiple-choice test which tested our knowledge of the subject areas. We worked collaboratively in teams of three to achieve a great result. You get to meet like-minded students from other schools, while competing in a fun atmosphere. During the closing ceremony, everyone is rewarded for their hard work, with plenty of medals and trophies up for grabs.

I recommend this event for students who enjoy working together in a unique and challenging way.

My Mission at Mission Discovery

I was lucky enough to be given a rare opportunity to do something extraordinary.....I was one of three Year 7 students that Parade College had sponsored to participate in the Mission Discovery NASA program during the school holidays.

The aim of the program was to work in a team and to create a novel experiment that would be tested aboard the International Space Station (I.S.S.).

During the week, we started out by getting to know the team by working collaboratively in small activities such as building a capsule that would enable an egg to fall safely from 3 meters. This activity was engaging as we not only had to build the capsule for the 'eggstronaut', but also had to budget the price for our materials.

Moving further into the week we were enlightened upon what it is like to be an astronaut. The hardships, the training, and not to mention the relaxing feeling of living in microgravity. This talk, by the NASA Astronaut, Steve Swanson, made me enraptured about our universe and I was left in awe and wonder of Earth's creation!

Encouraged by the talk, my team and I went to work researching an experiment that would hopefully change mankind for the better.

After a lot of research and trials my team decided to monitor cricket's behaviour in space. As crickets live for about ninety days, living in space for a period of twenty-eight days, which is very close to a third of their life span, might just change the way they behave and reproduce.

This experiment was hypothesised that if this experiment is carried out humans might be a step closer to colonise planets in the future.

Soon, our days came to an end and we had to present our ideas to the judges.

We gave it our best shot but understood that the winning team had a great idea about bacterial antibiotic resistance that would help in the future very soon.

In no less than a week my team and I made friends who before would be considered no less than strangers.

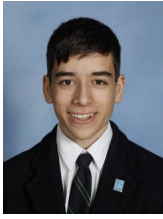

Learning how to cope with everyone's ideas and your own was challenging but rewarding in the end.

Working along with Steve Swanson (NASA Astronaut and ISS Commander), Sarah Murphy (NASA Mission Support and Partnership Council Executive) and Dr Julie Keeble (Lecturer of Pharmacology and ISSETS Chief SC). I learnt so much from them and enjoyed their stories they shared with us.

Student Start Up Melbourne Innovation Program

The student start up program at Melbourne Polytechnic was an engaging five-week program designed to assist the launch of student created businesses. Leading the program each week were local entrepreneurs Brett and David, whose experience in the field provided each program participant with valuable advice and direction.

With week one focusing on developing a product statement and business plan, the program started with the very basics of business, but quickly built into the practical work of running a business. By week three, we had Skype conversations with successful international entrepreneurs, and were developing our minimum viable product for the collection of early feedback. The final, fifth session involved preparation for a pitch night.

The pitch night took place a week after the program's final session and was an event that teachers, businesses and the public attended. It provided an opportunity for us to present our work to a live audience, refine our public speaking ability and promote our products. Businesses included the development of a clothing brand, a game server, an application for the restriction of wifi usage, and my own business, a note storage platform called Noterist. At the end of the pitch night, a participating investor generously offered $2500 to each business for a 2.5% stake.

For me, this has been a great learning experience and has redefined what I thought launching a business would look like. I've learnt that many of my assumptions regarding my own product were wrong, and have readjusted where I'd like for my product to go with the feedback I have received.

It has also been a fantastic opportunity to interact with other individuals from different schools in the area whom all have a passion for developing businesses or products.

With the offer of $2500 for a 2.5% stake, I hope to further develop Noterist as a business that students across Australia can use to share notes.

You can find Noterist at noterist.com

LEAP Project

On Monday 24 and Tuesday 25 September, twelve Parade students from Years 10 to 12 attended the Engineering LEAP Project, which was hosted at Latrobe University.

The two day program aimed to provide students with an opportunity to exercise some of the practical applications of mathematics and physics in an engineering workshop.

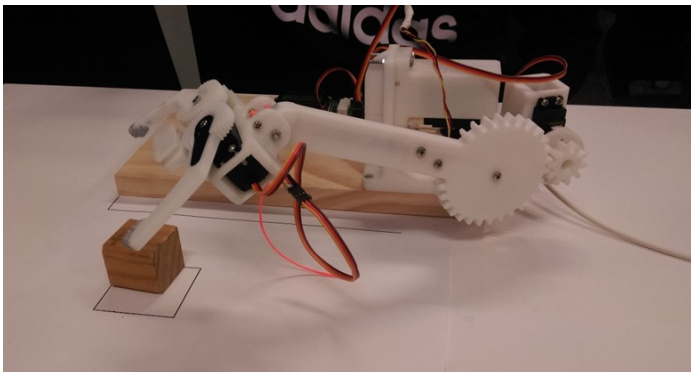

During Monday's session, we participated in an egg drop challenge which required us to create parachutes out of plastic bags, tape and string for a hypothetical ejection seat scenario.

Before we began constructing the parachute, we had to determine an acceptable speed of impact as well as the area of the parachute required to attain that.

Furthermore, the parachute had to be cheap as each material was assigned a virtual cost, with a team using the strips of the cheaper plastic as an alternative to string. In the end, a team was able to not only reduce damage to just minor fractures, it was also the cheapest design.

Afterwards we were taken for a tour around the engineering department of Latrobe, which housed a water jet cutter, CNC machines, and plasma cutters, amongst many other cutting edge technology.

Robotic Arm Design

On Tuesday, we took part in building and coding a robotic arm to be able to move and stack wooden blocks.

Assembling the robotic arm wasn't overly challenging, however, coding was a new experience for some people which proved to be fairly difficult. Thankfully we were in teams and were given an instruction sheet on some of the required functions.

The competition included three events: fastest pick up and place, most precise stacking, and most creative code features.

In the time given, one team was able to code for a triple stack, another coded for an extremely fast stacking sequence as well as an LCD display of the process.

This program was an enjoyable experience which gave us some insight into engineering as a career. It also allowed us to get a better understanding of what we learn at school through a hands on approach.

Model United Nations Conference 2018

On Friday 12 October nine Parade students and myself embarked on an excursion to De La Salle College to partake in a simulation of the United Nations General Assembly.

We were divided into groups of two or three and were assigned a member state, of which we were to represent in the Assembly. Parade was assigned Iran, Laos, Georgia and Colombia. We competed against students from Caulfield Grammar, Lauriston Girl's School, Sacre Coeur, Sacred Heart Girl's College, Siena College and our brother ACC schools, De La Salle and Mazenod College.

At the start of the day, we were tasked with delivering an opening statement on behalf of our country. This was an initial statement intended on making our country's stance on the issue, which was human trafficking, clear. After the opening statements, we entered the Caucus stage. This required delegates to interact with others in an effort to whip votes for proposed amendments to the Resolution.

At the end of the day, our proposed amendments to the resolution were considered and voted on by the assembly. Approximately half of the amendments succeeded whilst others were defeated.

Overall, the day was a great experience as it gave students the ability to understand and participate in the General Assembly, which ultimately assisted us in becoming more knowledgeable on this vital global organisation.

Year 10 MasterChef Challenge

This semester saw the introduction of the 'MasterChef' challenge as part of the Year 10 curriculum. Students were given a 'brief' and had to research a variety of suitable lunch dishes that could be served at a school canteen.

Although students were aware of the variety of ingredients that would be available on the day, they did not know the quantities. They had to be prepared to switch up their dish at the last minute! Once our budding chefs had hatted up, there was an almighty rush to the ingredient bench to secure their choices.

Both Year 10 classes performed extremely well, accepting the challenge and putting their research and culinary skills to the test. After a very busy 60 minutes we had a variety of dishes produced including, a creamy avocado carbonara, a stir-fry/curry concoction, a char grilled vegetable pizza and the odd burger or two, with plenty of homemade chips.

Winners of this semesters MasterChef challenge were:

| Group 1 | Chilli Con Carne

Mark Love T06
Tristan Walker B05
Luca Caruana B06 |
| Group 2 | Chicken Curry Stir Fry

Thank you to all staff who visited the kitchen during this time and to the Year 10 Food Studies students who gave it their all. I look forward to the next Parade College MasterChef Challenge in 2019!

Parade students inspire the Melbourne University Masters

Each year the Melbourne University Graduate School of Education teach an elective subject titled 'Innovation Spaces and Pedagogy', where Masters of Education and Masters of Architecture students work collaboratively to develop insights into the role of 'space' in education. Over the past eight years, a session with high school students has been held, and this year Parade College students were invited to speak to a group of seventy Masters students about their spatial experiences at Parade, with a focus on the Nash Learning Centre.

The forum took place at the impressive MGSE on Friday 5 October, and students had the opportunity to convey the importance of 'student voice' when considering school architecture and its occupation. The students, Yin Van Beek (Yr10 L02), Jordan Di Palma (Yr11 T02), Daniel Blaker (Yr11 H07), and Surendra Corea (Yr10 H08), fielded questions on their opinions and experiences in learning spaces at Parade, especially regarding the Nash Learning Centre, and discussed topics such as how space influences motivation and choice of activities, consultation of students in designing learning spaces, and their ideal learning space.

The lecturers, Dr Ben Cleveland and Dr Ken Woodman, researcher Ms Sarah Backhouse, as well as the large group of Masters students were suitably impressed by the robust discussion the students provoked, and the eloquent and honest descriptions of their impressions and experiences of learning in the Nash Learning Centre, and Parade College as a whole.

Parade College would like to thank the students involved with the panel forum for their excellent participation, and dedicating time out of their school holidays to represent their school in such a profound way.

From The Old Paradians

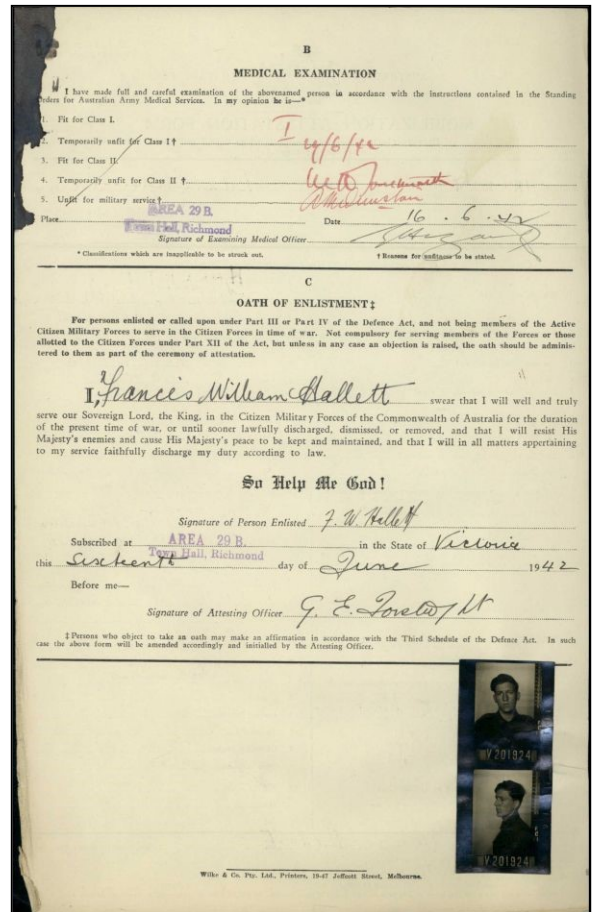

Chance meeting takes Frank back to his Father

What started as a simple business catch-up at Parade's Bundoora Campus has ended with a touching family reconnection for stonemason Frank Hallett.

The story began when Frank and Old Paradians' Association President Lewis Derrico recently met at the College to discuss the installation of a bronze plaque at the unmarked grave of Michael Sullivan, a much-respected Parade teacher and member of the Association's inaugural committee of 1914.

During the meeting, Frank mentioned that although he was a former student of St Bernard's Essendon, his father the late Francis William Hallett completed intermediate at the 'Old Bluestone Pile'.

Frank also explained that his Dad enlisted for wartime duties in June 1942 and served with the 51st Field Park Company in Papua.

Would Francis Hallett's moniker appear amongst the 1127 Old Paradians known to have served?

Frank accompanied Lewis to the foyer and scoured the names featured on the board. Sure enough, he found letters 'HALLETT F' in gold leaf and took a photograph or two for posterity.

"After enlisting, Dad was based in Katherine with the Engineers. He later served in Borneo, came back unscathed and worked hard because there were so many of us," said Frank, whose family business Halletts of Melbourne spans five generations.

"Having almost forgotten Dad's connection with Parade College East Melbourne it's incredible to see his name on the Honour Board. I just can't believe it.

"I've got six sisters and a brother and they'd be just as excited . . . and Dad would have been too."

It was then that thoughts turned to the World War Two Honour Board, commissioned by the Association in 2015 and hanging from the wall of the Hickey Foyer.

Class of '78 fronts up at the Kent

Members of Parade's class of 1978 – amongst them Jude Caspersz pictured here with long-serving teachers John Nicholls, John Ramsdale and John Joss – have celebrated the 40th anniversary of their final year of College at Carlton's salubrious Kent Hotel in Rathdowne Street.

Fifty former students of '78, a few of them jetting in from interstate, frequented the Kent's private function room upstairs, in keeping with the class's tradition of reuniting off site rather than back at Bundoora.

"It was a ripping Saturday," said event organiser Matthew Fleming. "Just on 50 students and five teachers (Ian Bibby, 'Jossy', Mick Kennedy, John Nicholls and John Ramsdale) made it along and grey hair and shiny craniums was the order of the day."

"It was a really good get-together, the first for a number of guys even though we'd previously held reunions ten, 20, 30 and 35 years out . . . one of the boys 'Chook' Cosgriff now reckons we'll have another in three years' time when we all turn 60."
